RE: Academia achieves 10-year reaccreditation with CEA

Aloha students and friends of Academia:

I am very pleased and proud to report that Academia has been granted 10-year reaccreditation by CEA, the Commission on English Language Program Accreditation.

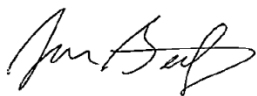

I am once again extremely proud of our entire staff for this significant achievement. I feel we have not only continued to meet the standards of quality required by CEA but have significantly raised our internal bar on educational and organizational quality since our initial accreditation five years ago.

What does this mean for students? It means Academia has an exceptionally qualified and engaged group of instructors and administrators that are truly focused on helping you achieve your language learning goals. It means that our curriculum meets the highest standards of quality while providing you with unparalleled choice in what you study. And it means that we are fully committed to providing you with individualized attention and making sure that your time studying at Academia exceeds your expectations.

We are again honored to achieve reaccreditation with CEA and we will continue to work to earn the trust that they – and you, our students and partners – have placed in us.

We look forward to helping you achieve your language learning goals in 2018 and beyond!

Mahalo nui loa,

Ryan Bailey
Director
Academia Language School
